NEGRO FORFEITS HIS LIFE AT STAKE

OFFICERS ARE OVERPOWERED

Victim of Frenzied Mob Had Assaulted Farmer's Wife and Fired House to Conceal Crime—Escapes From Constable, but Is Quickly Recaptured by Members of Own Race. Cremation Takes Place in Public Square of Purcell.

Purcell, Okla., Aug. 25.—Peter Carter, 35, colored, was burned to death on a brush pile in the public square here, while 3,000 men, women and children shouted their approval as they watched the writhings and listened to the agonized cries of the victim.

Carter had been captured by three members of his own race and identified as the man who attacked Mrs. Minnie Spraggins, Sheriff Hayes and Deputy Parris, who made an effort to rescue the negro from the mob, were overpowered and locked in the courthouse.

Mrs. Spraggins was assaulted while alone in her home, one mile south of Purcell. After the deed the negro set fire to the Spraggins home. Mrs. Spraggins' husband saw the flames while working in the fields and rushed into the house in time to rescue his wife. She declared Carter, who formerly had worked on the Spraggins farm, had attacked her. Officers went to Carter's home and arrested him. He was turned over to a constable, but on the way to jail Carter escaped. He was soon recaptured by three negroes.

Bitter Battle In G. A. R.

Grand Army Men Get Ready For Annual Election.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 25.—With the visit of President Taft, Governor Dix and the grand parade out of the way, delegates to the Grand Army of the Republic got down to business and, as is usual with gatherings of the organization, the battle waged mercilessly. Colonel John McElroy of Washington, editor of the National Tribune, the official G. A. R. organ, and candidate with Judge Harvey D. Trimble of Bloomington, Ill., for commander-in-chief, was the storm center and the subject of bitter debate. According to statistics furnished, more than 10,000 members have answered the last call since the last encampment.

Elections of affiliated organizations were the rule. Mrs. Cora M. Davis of Oregon was elected president of the Woman's Relief corps. The other officers were not reached. The Army and Navy union elected George Russell Downs of Erie, Pa., as its commander; L. K. Passmore of Newburg was elected senior vice commander.

Morgue Keeper Loses Job.
Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—John H. Biller, night superintendent at the county morgue, was discharged by the county commissioners, who allege that he has been turning over all the bodies that he could to a local undertaking firm for a commission of $3 each. The commissioners will not make public the name of the firm.

Attorney For Beattie Proves Himself Resourceful.

BLOODY AUTO TAKEN TO COURT

Alleged Wife Murderer Views Machine In Which Crime Was Committed Without Display of Emotion. Story That He Held Bleeding Form In Arm Discredited by Absence of Blood Stains on Sleeve of Shirt—Kentuckian Has Clew.

Chesterfield, C. H., Va., Aug. 25.—The bloodstained automobile in which Mrs. Henry C. Beattie, Jr., took her last ride, and the bloody garments she wore on that occasion, played prominent parts in the trial of Henry C. Beattie, Jr., charged with her murder. It was the first anniversary of the wedding of Beattie and his bride, Louise Owen. He listened to lawyers for the state say to a witness: "And now, doctor, how much blood do you think a woman the size of Mrs. Beattie would have in her body?" And again he heard the lawyer say: "And do you think that if this woman were shot in the automobile there could have been the mass of blood in the middle of the Middlethian turnpike that you have described?"

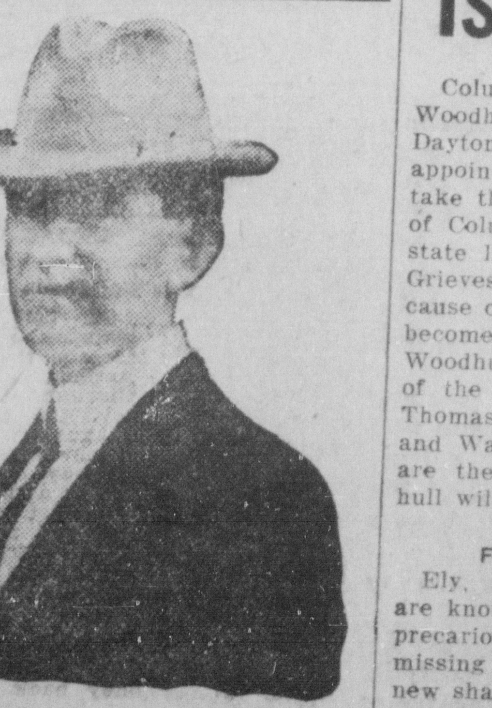

Before court convened Beattie and his father made a close inspection of the bloodstained automobile which had been brought over from Richmond. The prisoner seemed perfectly unconcerned as he examined the stains beneath the driver's seat.

Uncle Takes the Stand.
Thomas E. Owen, an uncle of the murdered girl, and Detective Sergeant Ben Wrenn of the Richmond police force, in repeating the story Beattie told after the homicide, of how a strange bearded man had risen out of the shadows by the roadside and shot Mrs. Beattie on the night of July 18, narrated the circumstances cited by Beattie that he had driven home with his right hand at the automobile wheel and his left supporting the body of his dead wife. Attorney Wendenburg for the commonwealth had drawn from each medical expert a detailed statement of the great amount of blood that had poured from the wound.

This done, the prosecuting attorney brought out the shirt Beattie had worn the night of the fatal automobile ride, the jacket and a chair cover upon which he had sat after his return to Thomas E. Owen's house with his wife's body. The chair cover was dyed red, on the back of the jacket between the shoulders and on the right shoulder there were splashes of blood. The jurymen turned the left sleeve of the jacket inside out when it was handed to them; that was the sleeve that should have been around the blood-drenched body of Mrs. Beattie, according to the defendant's story. There was not a stain of blood in it.

Diegle Reiterates Statement

Rodney Diegle Says He Has Said the Last Word.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—"The signed statement I gave out was my last word," said Rodney J. Diegle, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, who is awaiting sentence at the hands of Judge E. B. Kinkead for having acted as go-between in legislative bribery deals.

"I'm now waiting on Judge Kinkead to act. I understand he has gone away on a vacation. I don't know whether to go to my home in Sandusky or stay here in Columbus. It's rather annoying to have a capias issued for you when you are ready and have been at all times to present yourself in court on short notice. If I leave Columbus for a few days they're liable to think I'm going to run away and issue another capias."

Uhlen Trots A Fast Mile

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Before a crowd of 25,000 people, the largest ever attending a Grand Circuit meet here, Uhlan, driven by Doc Tanner, broke his own record of 2:05 3/4 for a half-mile track by trotting the mile in 2:02 3/4. The effort was the prettiest ever seen on any racetrack in the country. The crowd was wild with enthusiasm as the horse rounded to the stand after the time was announced.

KENTUCKIAN TO FRONT

Says He Can Prove Highwayman Killed Mrs. Beattie.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 25.—Information that may throw some light upon the death of Louise Beattie, wife of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., who is now on trial charged with the murder of his wife, has been offered the attorneys for young Beattie by J. S. Minor, a contractor of Louisville. Mr. Minor has written letters to young Beattie's attorneys stating that he can furnish the names of two men who may be able to prove that Mrs. Beattie was killed by a highwayman on a lonely road near Richmond, while out automobile riding with her husband July 18 last.

Dayton Manufacturer Is Appointed

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—Morris H. Woodhull, Republican, a well known Dayton carriage manufacturer, was appointed by Governor Harmon to take the place of William A. Grieves of Columbus as a member of the state liability board of awards. Mr. Grieves was ineligible to serve because of the fact that he has not yet become a naturalized citizen. Mr. Woodhull will be the representative of the manufacturers on the board. Thomas J. Duffy of East Liverpool and Wallace D. Yapple of Chillicothe are the other members. Mr. Woodhull will take office at once.

KILLED IN BED SON IS HELD

Son Held For Killing of Parents and Younger Brother.

Booneville, Ind., Aug. 25.—William Lee, 21, is in jail here on charge of murdering his father, mother and brother and with setting fire to the house to conceal the crime. Richard Lee, the father, 50, and his mother, 52, and Clarence, a brother, 17, were found in bed with their skulls crushed when the firemen entered the house after putting out the flames. The Lee family sold some property in Newburg and had about $400 in money in the house. This money has not been found and robbery is believed to have been the motive for the murder. All three of the victims of the murder were killed by blows on the head, either from a hatchet or some similar instrument. The house was then fired and the bodies were badly burned by the fire, which practically destroyed the dwelling.

Barring Accidents Atwood Will Reach New York.

New York, Aug. 25.—Barring further accidents to his engine or other mishaps, Harry N. Atwood expects to complete his aeroplane voyage from St. Louis to New York this afternoon.

Three minutes after passing Tarrytown the engine that hadn't squeaked in all the voyage from St. Louis until then attempted suicide, and Atwood descended to observe that it was pretty tough, thus having to give up the hope of an 11-day trip when, almost in sight of the spires of New York and of the Atlantic ocean, Atwood has traveled 1,245 miles and has broken the record for an unbroken series of distance flights. The previous mark was 1,164 miles.

Gates For Panama Canal Locks Weigh About 750 Tons Each

WORK on the Panama canal has reached the point where the lock gates are being placed in position. The picture above shows one of the gates at the Gatun upper lock. As a matter of safety the gates there are in pairs, each pair working simultaneously. The gates are of massive steel, eighty-two feet high, sixty-five feet wide and seven feet thick. Each of them will weigh about 750 tons, but will be so hung that they will work freely. An idea of their enormous size may be obtained by looking at the man bending over a barrel between the ends of the two gates or the two men on the platform beside the gate at the right side of the picture.

Wilson Loses Out In Duluth Convention

Dairy and Food Commissioners Indorse Dr. Wiley.

OHIO MAN ON WINNING SIDE

Arrival of S. E. Strode With Four Votes at Duluth Gathering of State Departments Settles Controversy Over Feud In President Taft's Cabinet—Nashville Man Wins Presidency and Hoosier Is Elected to Vice Presidency of National Body.

Duluth, Aug. 25.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley was indorsed at the annual convention of state and national pure food departments after reinforcements had arrived at the last hour.

The Wiley candidate, Lucius P. Brown of Nashville, was elected president and H. E. Barnard of Indiana vice president, of the organization over candidates of the delegation that have taken the side of Secretary Wilson in the late agricultural imbroglio.

The pendulum swung to the side of the so-called Wiley men in the convention with the arrival of Food Commissioner Strode of Ohio. He brought four votes and a declared admiration for the national chemist. This practically assured Mr. Brown's election, following the admission of his supporters that they expected defeat by a small margin.

The remainder of the ticket was elected as follows:

Second vice president, C. H. Billingsley, Alabama (Wilson); third vice president, Joel G. Winker, Minnesota (neutral); secretary, W. M. Allen, North Carolina (Wiley); treasurer, James Faust, Pennsylvania (unanimous); executive committee, Edwin De Barr, Oklahoma (Wilson); S. J. Crumline, Kansas (Wiley); Charles D. Woods, Maine (Wiley). Seattle will entertain the convention in 1912.

Madero Declares Reyes Traitor

Finds Returned Exile Popular With People.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 25.—According to friends of Francisco I. Madero, he is in for a fight to the finish with General Bernardo Reyes. They declare he gave Reyes a chance to return to Mexico and become a useful citizen, and that Reyes has been a traitor. Friends of Reyes declare that Madero is jealous of the popularity of the former war minister. Madero has thrown the challenge to the general and accuses him of treachery and planning to have him shot in battle to assure the success of Reyes in the presidential election.

Returning from his trip of pacification in Morelos, where he went to urge the Zapatist revolt to lay down their arms, Madero says that, while he can not produce the evidence asked by President De La Barra of the treachery of Reyes, he has enough proof to satisfy himself. In the capital the people are saying that if Madero is elected president Reyes will have to leave the country again, as was the case when he became too popular for Diaz, or head a revolution against Madero for self-preservation.

London, Aug. 25.—Manuel, who lost the throne of Portugal because he cared more for the smiles of the beautiful Gaby Deslys than he did for the routine duties of a king, and Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight of the world, were introduced in Carl's court.

THE FIRST "WET" FAIR In a Dozen Years ATTENDED BY BIG CROWD

Notwithstanding the Lowering Skies

GROUND WERE A SEA OF MUD

Within 300 of as Many People
Passed Through the Gates
Thursday as Did on Same Day Last Year

The first "wet" fair since the organization of the Fayette Co. Fair Co., 11 years ago, and the people can not understand the contrariness of the weather clerk! If it wasn't that the soaking rains of the past two days are welcomed by the farmers and needed by future crops, there would be no consolation.

The weather of Thursday certainly put a damper on the fair, not in attendance, for there was a great crowd, estimated at 15,000, but after 11 years of unrelenting blue skies and sunshine, a downpour that made umbrellas a joke and seas of mud were unexpected handicaps.

The track was impossible for anything in harness racing, and it was only by powerful persuasion and inducements that two running races were held off.

Price's hand, and it is no wonder that people in this part of the country think there isn't any other band worth the name, came to the rescue gallantly, and played almost continuously throughout the afternoon.

People packed the grand stand to hear it and certainly had a treat in the splendid music.

The crowd realized that the Fair Board couldn't help the weather and took the showers good naturedly, and between rains the various departments and shows had visitors galore. Everywhere was heard, "We'll have to come back tomorrow," but the steady, all night rain, still falling when "tomorrow" dawned, doomed all hopes of a banner Friday.

The Fair Board went into consultation early this morning and everything was called off. The grounds are in such a condition that it is absolutely impossible to consider any continuance of the fair. As Secretary Rogers says, "Nothing doing but the diver in 'Under the Sea!'"

The drowning out of the fair is a big disappointment to the fair management and to the people of the town and county, but only one flood in 11 years isn't so bad after all.

There were a number of show classes booked for today and the entire racing program of the two big fair days was declared off.

Sues Wife's Parents For $10,000 Damages

Charging alienation of his wife's affections, Frank Sutton, a young farmer of near Jamestown, has filed suit against his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sellars, wealthy farmers, for $10,000 damages, and in his petition alleges that the father-in-law has threatened to murder him on sight.

The petition recites that soon after their marriage December 29, 1908, the defendants "commenced a malicious and systematic and determined effort to separate the plaintiff and his wife and to induce and cause his wife to become alienated from him and to destroy the affection of his wife for him, and to entice her from her home and cause her to abandon him. That repeatedly, well knowing that the plaintiff and his wife were living happily together and that a strong affection for the plaintiff existed on the part of the wife, they maliciously, wrongfully, with the sole purpose and intention of injuring the plaintiff and depriving him of the society, services, comfort and companionship of his wife communicated by means of conversation and telephone messages to plaintiff's wife, certain false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory matter concerning the plaintiff's character and reputation." He further avers that his wife was repeatedly offered valuable property and large sums of money to entice her to leave him, and that she was threatened with disinheritance if she refused.

The persecution the petition avers produced upon the plaintiff's wife an illness and nervous affliction so serious that it destroyed in her will power to longer resist their demands, and while she was in such condition they even becoming more violent in their purposes. The plaintiff says they refused to permit the attentions of a specialist because they desired to keep his wife in such mental condition that they could continue to absolutely control her.

Many Visitors to Fair Remark About Good Order

Many visitors to the Fayette Co. fair, who came to this city from a distance, expressed their astonishment at the lack of rowdiness and drunkenness on the grounds considering the enormous crowd Thursday.

Some of the men who ran automobiles to and from the grounds were remarking about the absence of booze and one of the men said: "Of all the fairs we have ever attended to haul fair goers, and we have attended lots of them, this fair beats anything we ever saw. We did not see a man who was drunk, and the lack of rowdiness was remarkable. If this is what comes from having dry towns, I guess it would be the best thing for every bloomin' city on earth to put the lid on. We have found that the lid is on good and tight here—in fact we never ran across a city where it was really dry until we came down here."

Of the many thousands of people who attended the fair Thursday, only two men were locked up, and these are the pair who were engaged in bootlegging and were captured Thursday morning.

Buggy Upsets Man's Arm Broken

The upsetting of a buggy caused by striking some new gravel on the Jamestown pike near Carr's grocery three miles west of this city, resulted in Cloyd Craig, aged 19, suffering a badly broken arm.

Mr. Craig in company with a lady was driving home from the fair about three o'clock in the afternoon, and both were thrown violently from the buggy when it overturned, but the young lady escaped injury. Mr. Craig's arm was doubled under him and the bone snapped under the strain. Dr. L. M. McFadden was called.

Mr. Craig is a son of Henry Craig, of Oklahoma, and they were visiting Mr. Carr this week.

Auto "Loops the Loop" Again

Dr. L. L. Brock looped the loop for the second time on the streets Thursday, causing a number of persons to hold their breath while his car was performing the unusual feat of turning completely around on the slippery streets while running at a fair rate of speed.

Dr. Brock was just crossing North street on Court when his machine commenced skidding, and before he had time to prevent it from turning further it had turned completely around and was headed in the direction he was going before it commenced to skid.

The car apparently possesses a hoodoo for looping the loop, as this is the second time it has performed the unusual act of taking a sudden notion to slide about at random.

Pickpockets Busy At County Fairs

County fairs have been the field for pickpockets this year, and all adjoining counties holding fairs have been bothered with the light-fingered rascals. London and Xenia are among the places visited by these rascals.

So far as known there was not a single case of pocket-picking at the local fair, and no arrests were made on the grounds.

Murderer Justice Again Reprieved

In deference to the sentiment of colored organizations against the electrocution of one of their race on the anniversary of the day of the issuance of the preliminary emancipation proclamation, Governor Harmon Thursday reprieved Charles Justice, colored murderer, who killed farmer Shoup near Xenia while engaged in robbing the latter's chicken roost, from September 22 to October 6.

The governor also reprieved until October 20, Stephen Scott, colored, who was to have been electrocuted at midnight Thursday for killing an Italian railroad laborer at Piqua in April, 1910. Scott is a barber and was intent on robbing the Italian when the murder was committed.

Chicken Thief Gets Light Fine

Frank Barton, known to many Fayette county citizens, residing near Williamsport, was arrested on a charge of chicken stealing a few days ago, and given $5 and costs and 60 days in the work house. The term in the works was suspended and he was allowed to go on payment of the $5 and costs.

The chickens were stolen from Mrs. Mary C. Rector, east of New Holland, and sold to a huckster. Mrs. Rector had the chickens marked, and was able to identify every one of them, picking them from among the others in the huckster's coops.

Married the Girl

Thursday's Scioto Gazette tells the finale to Monroe George's troubles in the following manner: "Constable James P. Crain went to Washington on Wednesday and arrested Monroe George, colored, upon a paternity charge preferred by Henrietta Banks, of Twin township. He was brought back to Chillicothe, and this morning married the girl, and was released."

Local Contractor To Build Mt. Sterling Library

R. C. Karney, one of Washington's well known contractors and builders, has been awarded the contract for the new Carnegie Library to be erected in Mt. Sterling.

There was considerable rivalry in the bids. The cost of the new library when completed will be $10,000. The exterior will be built of shaded wire cut brick trimmed with Bedford stone, and will be the only building of the kind and same size anywhere in this vicinity. The contract calls for massive cornices which will be effective, and when completed the structure will be exceedingly handsome.

The interior is to be all oak finish including hardwood floors throughout the house, librarian's desk and delivery table.

The new library is to be completely furnished early in the spring.

Mr. Karney has recently built two of the handsomest homes in Mt. Sterling. Mr. Harry G. Beale's and Mr. H. O. Bostwick's and is gaining quite a reputation in our neighboring town.

Flaw Found in Beatie Indictment

There was not a stain of blood inside or outside of the left coat sleeve. There was no blood on the left shirt sleeve, but there was a great stain at the back of the shirt, near the bottom.

After medical experts had testified to the nature of Mrs. Beattie's wounds, Attorney Smith for the defense asked the clerk to let him see the indictment which had been drawn against Beattie by the grand jury of Chesterfield county, under the direction of commonwealth's attorney, James M. Gregory. With the document in his hand, Smith and his brother counsel put their heads together for five minutes. Then Attorney Smith arose to address the court on this remarkable proposition.

Indictment Not Explicit.

The indictment reads that Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., had fired off and exploded a gun, causing the charge to strike the face of Louise Owen Beattie, etc., etc., but it did not say anything about the charge having been caused to go farther than the face of said Louise Owen Beattie, and into her skull. On this ground Smith moved the court that all the testimony of the doctors appertaining to the hole in the murdered woman's skull be stricken out as irrelevant and immaterial. Smith then asked Coroner Loving, who happened to be on the stand, if he were willing to swear that a charge of shot entering the cheek of a person and no further in the manner set forth in the indictment, would be capable of causing death. Dr. Loving admitted that it probably would not. For a minute those in the courtroom did not realize that Beattie's lawyer had uncovered a very dangerous pitfall for the prosecution. Judge Watson ran his hand through his hair once or twice and then said that he would take Attorney Smith's motion under advisement.

When, through May Stewart, a confessed proprietor of a disorderly house in Richmond, the prosecution got in evidence the fact that on the night before the death of Mrs. Beattie, Henry C. Beattie and Beulah Binford were in each other's company at May Stewart's place, the defense made no attempt to refute this fact through the breaking down of the woman's testimony. It is expected that Beulah Binford will be put on the stand some time before the end of today's session.

Whirling Crank Handle Fractures Man's Arm

Early Friday morning while Creighton Hurlis, tank man at the Washington Ice Factory, was in the act of lifting a tank containing a cake of ice, using a small windlass for that purpose, his hands slipped from the crank handle, and in a twinkling the crank flew backward as the tank settled back into place, and the handle struck the man's right arm, fracturing the bone at the wrist, and causing a break from which he will not fully recover for many weeks.

After the wrist was broken, Hurlis walked up town and called a physician out of bed to dress the wound, which was causing him the most excruciating pain.

The B. & O. Agricultural Train

The Agricultural train, sent out by the State Agricultural Board for the benefit of Ohio farmers, arrived here over the B. & O. at 3:15 Thursday afternoon.

Owing to the Fayette County fair and the bad weather, there was not nearly the crowd that would have greeted the train under other circumstances.

The train was in charge of Mr. W. W. Wood, general industrial agent; H. A. Trendley, industrial agent at Cincinnati; N. G. Spangler, division freight agent at Chillicothe; H. C. Stevenson, division passenger agent B. & O., at Chillicothe.

Prof. Tithro of the O. S. U., assisted by a corps of expert authorities from the O. S. U., delivered the lectures and gave any desired information.

The subjects taken up were wheat culture and the selection of seed corn, two vital subjects to the farmer.

The first speaker called the attention of his audience to two large photographs showing the yields of wheat on two plots at the Ohio Experiment Station. On one plot the average yield for the last sixteen years was only 11.3 bushels per acre and on the other the average yield during the same period was 27.5 bushels per acre. These plots were located side by side, of the same kind of soil, the difference in yield being due to the different treatment they had received, stated the speaker. An outline of the manner in which these experimental plots had been handled formed the basis of his lecture on soil fertility. The main points in his talk were as follows: The factors concerned in crop production and soil improvement are drainage, rotation of crops, good tillage, use of lime, manure and organic matter, and commercial fertilizers. There are comparatively few farms in Ohio that could not be improved by the use of tile. Drainage removes surplus water, allowing plants to root deeper, thus they are enabled to better withstand drouth; makes soil warmer; and actually increases the amount of water available to the plant.

Every farm should have a crop rotation suited to its needs, especially one in which clover forms a part. Deep plowing and thorough cultivation help to make soils more productive. A farm which will not grow clover cannot be increased in fertility at a profit. The persistent failure of clover is due to the lack of lime in the soil. One ton of caustic lime or two tons of ground limestone to the acre should be used. And keep the soil well filled with organic matter. Use all the barnyard manure, plow under crop residues and do not burn straw, stalks or stubble.

The last point made by this speaker was that Ohio soils are lacking in the element phosphorus and that many of them need nitrogen and potassium. To get the best results with wheat it will be necessary to use some form of commercial fertilizer, especially one containing phosphorus. The next instructor took up the subject of wheat culture. He pointed out that many farmers neglect the proper cultural methods and fail to select varieties of wheat that are adapted to their soil and climatic conditions, with the result that they do not get full returns from their soil.

That the selection of better varieties is the easiest and cheapest method of improving wheat yields was another point brought out by the lecturer. He stated that in thirteen years of test in Ohio, Dawson's Golden Chaff, Gypsy and Poole were the three varieties giving highest yields. However, when milling qualities were considered, Valley, Nigger and Gypsy were the three standing highest. Of the new varieties originated by selection at the Ohio Station, Poole Selection 6545, Gypsy Selection 6100 and Fultz Selection 53100 are most promising.

An investigation conducted by the College of Agriculture shows that seed corn thoroughly dried early in the fall is sure to produce good, strong growing plants.

The train went on to Wilmington for evening lectures.

Colored Man Killed On B. & O. Fast Train

While the B. & O. New York Express, running on the main line of the B. & O. S. W. was thundering along at 60 miles per hour near Madisonville Thursday, Henry Daniels, chief cook in the dining car, assaulted William Taylor, his assistant, using a butcher knife and stabbing Taylor until the latter had received wounds which proved fatal within a short time.

Daniels was put off the train at Loveland, and turned over to the officers there, charged with murder. Taylor was a married man and lived at New Vienna. Daniels claims self-defense, saying that Taylor assaulted him with a knife. A number of diners witnessed the killing.

THE BANNER APPLE CROP

Miss Pearl Hamilton, of Greenfield, was here to attend the fair dance.

Mrs. Allen Blade of Litchfield, Ill., is the guest of her son, John Blade, on N. North street.

Dr. Willard Burke arrived from New York Thursday evening to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jos. N. Willson.

Mr. and Mrs. Cave have as their guests during the fair Mrs. Nettie Lytle, of Hillsboro; Miss Olie Kerns, Columbus; Miss Florence Rose Adolph, Mr. Frank Leach, Mt. Sterling; Mr. Parmer, Columbus.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2 oz. package 5 cents.

It is expected that the total crop of apples in one Ross county orchard this year will be between 10,000 and 12,000 bushels, and a new fruit house is being erected to care for the crop.

The crop of apples in Ross county this year will be the best in twenty years, in the opinion of many, and this is especially true of the unsprayed trees, which are this year bearing fruit as nearly perfect as unsprayed trees can produce. The hot dry weather was particularly unfavorable to the development of the scab and the codling moth, which interfere with the fruit crop to a very large extent in the average year.

The Village of Frankfort Has a Smallpox Epidemic

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baughn and daughter, Millicent, have been spending fair week with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Baker. On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Baker also entertained Messrs. H. D. Schrader, Will Divens, Howard Nutt, John Diver, Toney Slavens, Edward Leist and Bert Pratt, of Pike county.

FAREWELL TO ROLL.

Little bank roll ere we part,
Let me hug you to my heart;
All the year I've clung to you,
I've been faithful, you've been true;
Little bank roll in a day
You and I will start away
To a gay festive spot;
I'll come home, but you will not.
—Exchange.

Our neighboring town of Frankfort is undergoing a smallpox epidemic, but so far it is nothing serious, and no new cases have developed. It is said that a number of cases exist, but these have been closely quarantined and the epidemic is under control.

That the outbreak was considered more serious than it really was, is a matter that always occurs, and there has been much reported that was false. One report was to the effect that there were forty cases in the village, but this is false.

The Frankfort Sun of Thursday, in speaking of the situation says:

It is plainly apparent that there has been too much tom-foolery about the smallpox situation in Frankfort. Some chicken-hearted jealous people in neighboring towns have taken the trouble to circulate the report that there were 40 cases here, that the town was quarantined and that nothing was being done in town at all. There never was a bigger barefaced falsehood uttered. By many it is doubted (and always will be) whether there is a case of small-pox in town. There are no new cases. The town is not quarantined. Business is going on just as it always has. There is no danger in coming to town. People come and go as usual. If some of the jealous people in neighboring towns will only attend to the smallpox in their own towns, they will have no time to tell lies about their neighbors. This is the situation here. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

LOOKING FOR AN EASY JOB.

The world, unfortunately, contains a large number of people who do not succeed in life because they are continually and everlastingly wanting the other fellow's job. These people are firmly convinced that the other fellow's work is much easier than their own, hence dissatisfaction with their own lot in life and the numerous tasks which their hands find to do takes complete mastery of their lives always with the one result—a miserable failure.

Of course it is a mistake all through. This business of getting on in the world is no snap for any one, and the man who becomes convinced that he is having a harder time than any one else is laying up trouble and lots of it for himself.

The men dissatisfied with their lots are the men who make up the vast army of "drifters" with no special occupation and no home. Men who suffer themselves to drift with the varying winds, most of them adverse, are not the men who succeed.

Ambition and discontent are as far apart as the two poles and though in effect many marked similarities exist they should not be confused.

The ambitious man strives to better his condition, tries to improve mentally, morally and financially, but he never slights the work in hand. He finishes the work as he goes along, but possessed always of the all controlling impulse to do.

The discontented man is not particularly striving to better his condition by work, but is rather hunting a good soft berth without work. He never completes the work at hand because his head and heart are elsewhere.

Seeking a place in this world which will contribute the fruits of toil without requiring its equivalent in labor is like looking for the pot of gold at the end of the rain-bow.

An endless search with no substantial reward.

As a general thing the discontented man is not the ambitious man and he who is ambitious in the true sense is thoroughly contented.

Content to perform his allotted task and looking for more to perform instead of neglecting the work in hand while looking only for the reward of labor.

UNDERSTAND IT.

Now that an election is approaching it is more than probable that Herald readers will seek to avail themselves of the "Letters from the People" column in order to express their views on questions of interest to the public.

So long as communications received are confined to matters of public interest, criticism of official action and all of personal feeling is lacking, they will be published in the column set apart for that purpose.

It should be distinctly understood, however, by the readers of this paper, that the publication of these communications does not mean that this paper adopts any of the views therein expressed.

Those of our readers who do not agree with the communications should avail themselves of the column to put their own views before the public.

To seek and express displeasure on account of the publication of a communication is an indication of weakness of position and imparts an added strength to the publication complained of. Any man who has the right side of a question need not fear public discussion of his position.

Silence is an acknowledgement of the truth of accusations and no amount of abuse on matters not relevant will serve to distract the attention of the people from the true issue. There is nothing more helpful to the public than a free, open and fair discussion of public questions, and it is to be hoped for the good of all that the Herald columns will be used freely, always, however, with the understanding that the views expressed are those of the writer of the communications and not those of this paper.

A candidate for public office who refuses to state his position on matters of public concern or becomes incensed at the mention of his position in the past is shy on real merit.

People freely condone honest mistakes of public officials but refuse to accept abuse as argument and are loath to again trust those who trick them.

Light
Apparel
for Hot Summer
Days

By R. E. LIDGERWOOD

The hot season has caused much suffering, and called forth letters and arguments for and against men wearing shirt waists in public places. A word of advice from merchants whose business it is to supply seasonable apparel may not be amiss. Men who find it necessary to remove their coats on account of discomfort have not given summer apparel sufficient attention to understand how to dress to avoid misery during the hot season.

For economy and comfort a man should have at least two weights of business suits and three are better.

One for winter, one for spring, and one Scotch homespun skeleton coat and trousers for the hot season.

Three suits will last four times as long as one suit, and so be a saving of 25 per cent. and give one comfort during each season, which is the main thing.

To be healthy the whole body should be exposed to as much fresh air as possible.

CRIPPEN CASE MAY RESULT IN COURT CHANGESMuch Dissatisfaction In England Over Defense of Doctor.

If the Statutory Committee of the London Law Society did not mean a good deal more than it actually said when it reported to the King's Bench Divisional Court recently that Solicitor Arthur Newton was guilty of professional misconduct in his handling of the Crippen case, it is at least reasonably certain that it will accomplish much more than it professed to want. The committee asked merely that the court deal with Newton. What will probably happen is a general parliamentary overhauling in the near future of English court methods in criminal cases.

The committee did not, indeed, find any fault with Dr. Crippen's trial itself. In fact, the members would undoubtedly deny emphatically, if asked the question, that they could have done so. From a lawyer's standpoint, then, Solicitor Newton alone, and not the court, is criticised. But the man in the street, unaccustomed to fine legal distinctions, inclines to doubt the justice of a system of administering the criminal law which works as rapidly—and speed is the particular thing that the English criminal courts always boast about and are always being praised for—that a prisoner is hanged before any one has a chance to find out that his own legal advisor has betrayed him.

The feeling that the English criminal courts are dangerous to innocent people has been growing throughout Great Britain for some time. The Law Society's report on Newton's conduct in connection with the Crippen case, taken in connection with a number of other murder verdicts lately against prisoners of whose guilt most people were very doubtful, has made this feeling so strong that it is certainly not going to be long before notice will have to be taken of it.

It is true that no charge was made that Newton did not do his best for Dr. Crippen during the latter's trial. There can be little question, however, that he did not. The defense's incompetent handling of the case amazed everyone, and yet Newton is an exceptionally able lawyer when he chooses to exert himself. But that he actually abandoned his client to his fate can only be suspected—not proven. What he did do, as most people have all along believed and the Law Society has definitely established, was to give a confession, of his own manufacture but purporting to come from Dr. Crippen, at the time the latter was awaiting execution in Pentonville prison.

The Law Society is of the opinion that a dirtier trick could hardly be played by a lawyer upon a client, and the popular view is that a man capable of such a thing would also be capable of taking the money with which he was supplied to defend Crippen and then abandoning him.

and rather than spend any of it in making an effective fight for him.

In an American court, the argument might hold good that it is not the judge's fault if a prisoner is poorly defended. In an English one the case is quite different. The English judge is a good deal more than a mere umpire, as in America. He takes an active part in the case and is supposed to help the prosecutor if he thinks the latter is not making the most of the evidence in his hands, or the defense, if he believes it is being mismanaged. In the Crippen case, though the prosecution was exceptionally able and even indictive, and the defense absolutely pitiable, it was generally agreed that Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, by the aid he lent to the prosecution and the remorselessness with which he demolished the defense's feeble assistance, had much more to do with securing a conviction than had any of the lawyers.

In short, the popular judgement in England is that, once charged with a crime, a man may about as well give up for lost, if tried before a British tribunal. And there is a growing demand for a change in his condition, so as to give innocent men some chance.

MUNCHAUSEN UP TO DATE.

"A man in China," B. M. said,
"A pigtail wears upon his head."
"And pigs?" asks auditor pro tem.
"Wear nothing," says the genial M.

"Once," the Baron said, "methinks
I talked for hours with the Sphinx."
"She cannot talk," his hearers cry.
"I know," says he, "but cannot I?"

"I know some tribes beyond the seas—
Their home's so hot it fricassees."
"How do they live?" the audience cries.
"Away from home," B. M. replies.

Munchausen said: "The Japanese
Glue all the fruit upon the trees."
"Where does it grow?" the audience cries.
"On other trees," B. M. replies.

"The Hottentot," Munchausen said,
"On pickled antelope is fed."
"Well?" the crowd, impatient, cries.
"Indeed, he's not," B. M. replies.

"The Congo hippopotamus
Would often mount an omnibus

"He could," remarks the raconteur.

"I saw the Pole!" The people stare.
"You didn't," one and all declare.
"I did," he said; "close by my ship."
(The Pole was on a southern trip.)

"On Googlum's shore," the Baron cried,
"The people drink their whisky

"How can they? tell us!" all insist.
"Because," says he, "they don't exist."

Helping Backward Children.

Many mothers would be perfectly willing to help their children with their school work if they only knew how.

If a child is slow to read and spell, it will help to say, "Shut the d-o-o-r." "Get me a b-o-o-k, please." "Your hair is b-r-o-w-n." "Your eyes are b-l-u-e." Then encourage the child to tell you something the same way even if it is only "Look at the c-a-t."

If there are some new words to spell, give the child an old newspaper and a pair of scissors and let her cut out the letters and form the words WHO, BEEN, WORK, etc. This will impress the letters on the mind more than repeating them.

To tempt children to read rouse their curiosity by putting a picture in the middle of the sentence, as, the (rat) went into a hole.

Tell a story and spell a word occasionally, as, Once there was a dear little (rabbit) and it had long (ears). It went for a little (walk) one day in the (field), etc.—Harper's Bazar.

Flemish Fish

Cut into six or eight slices a trout weighing two pounds; wash, wipe dry, and sprinkle with a little salt and let stand for one-half hour. Then wash fish let come to a boil in bouillon made of five cupsful of water, one-half cupful of cider vinegar, six or eight cloves, same number of pepper balls, two bay leaves and salt to taste. Take fish out and put into deep dish and add one-half cupful of sugar, one large onion, and one large lemon sliced, to fish liquid. Boil until onion is tender, then remove from fire and gradually pour on to the well beaten yolks of two eggs into which one tablespoonful of flour has been wet. Return to fire, one minute, and pour over fish. To be eaten very cold. This is a delicious Sunday night supper dish. A recipe from Belgium.

The Difference.

Scene: Hairdresser's shop.
Barber (to customer)—Razor all right, sir?

Customer—My dear man, if you hadn't mentioned it I'd never have known there was a razor on my face.
Barber—Thank you!

Customer (continuing)—I thought you were using a file!—Fuck.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Q.—What is meant by these words, "The Spirit and the Bride say come?" (Revelation xxii, 17).

Answer.—The Spirit clearly refers to Jesus Christ, the Bridegroom. His Bride is to be the Church glorified. (See Revelation xxi, 9; xix, 7-9). The marriage, or union, referred to in the last Scripture, takes place at the second coming of Christ (John xiv, 3). The reign of Christ (Bride and Bridegroom) follows, and then the message will go forth to the world, inviting all to come and obey Christ and receive eternal life; and the obedient shall live. And the obedient will be privileged to repeat the invitation to others, that "whosoever will may come and take of the water of life freely." The Church of Christ in its present condition of development is referred to by the Apostle as "the chaste virgin, espoused to one Husband" (II Corinthians xi, 2). She will not become the Bride of Christ until at the time of the Bridegroom's presence, when the marriage of the Lamb shall take place and the marriage supper shall follow (Revelation xix, 9). Evidently, from the foregoing, it is manifest that the expression "whosoever will," does not apply to all at this time, and will not be true until the wedding is consummated.

A Jolt.
A Boston public school teacher was trying to give her pupils a definite idea of a volcano. With her chalk she drew on the blackboard fiery flames issuing from a mountain top. When the drawing was done, she turned to the class before her and said: "Can any of you tell me what that looks like?" "It looks like hell, ma'am," replied one of the youngsters, with startling promptness.

Young people, have you ever considered the opportunities that would be yours in the business world, if you were to secure a thorough business training in "OHIO'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS," THE BLISS COLLEGE?

W. A. Dobbins was a country school teacher—now secretary at $5200.00 per year. Laura Durkee, high school graduate—now assistant bank examiner. R. C. Hayes, teacher—now making over $1000.00 per year. Marjorie Andrews, high school graduate—now drawing $1200.00 per year. M. M. Jacques, farm boy—salary now $3500.00 per year. Fred Tyler, high school graduate—now bank cashier. Ada Menafee, dressmaker—now $1800.00 per year. Sidney Mayor, farm boy—now drawing $3500.00 per year.

Why do you hesitate? The business world wants you. Send now, today, for "The Seal of Fortune." Read of the success of many of our past students. The same opportunities are yours. Employment secured for students to earn board while in attendance. New classes formed every Monday. Address all communications to the

PREDICTS PEACE IN CLASS WAR

President Taft Addresses Veterans at Rochester.

BITTER AGAINST DEMAGOGUES

Declares That People Will Solve Wealth Problem Without Resort to Bloodshed or Adoption of Socialistic Doctrines—Compares His Troubles to Those of Lincoln and Says He Gets Off Easy—Fierce Contest Is on For Highest Office.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Recalling the dark days of the civil war by the sight of 20,000 veterans, President Taft digressed from the theme of his address at the G. A. R. campfire at the national encampment.

The president had come to talk of peace and he held his address principally to this topic, but the reflection of the immense struggle which had centered about the old men who marched before him in the parade contrasted in his mind the political struggle that has seethed about him for the last few months, and which was only temporarily relieved by the adjournment of congress, and his thoughts turned naturally to this channel. He said that when he was tempted to think of his own troubles he had only to think of the troubles of Lincoln.

"When we contemplate what we have lived through and what we have accomplished," he said, "it ought to encourage us to feel that the problems before us are slight in comparison with those we have solved. Our very prosperity and the accumulation of our wealth have brought other problems, elusive and difficult in their settlement, and have prompted a higher civic ambition with reference to the condition of the individual and his equality of opportunity and with reference to use of wealth by its owners, and restrictions upon methods of use unduly repressive to competitors and to the public at large.

"These higher aims for the betterment of society; these new evils growing out of the concentration of wealth, and these combinations which properly controlled are a great good in the reduction of cost of production, have invited from the active-minded of today suggestions of remedies that are so extreme that the medicine to many of us seems worse than the disease. Those who are charged with the responsibility, and sobered with the difficulties, find ourselves in the middle of the road resisting the tendency to Socialism on the one hand and the inertia of reactionary contentment with present evils and ambition for greater concentration of financial power on the other; but we are gradually solving the problem. The present does not bring difficulties so great as you had to meet and overcome in '61. It may be a longer fight, because it will not involve violence or the shedding of blood, but it must and will be solved peacefully and by the earnest effort of the level-headed, the practical and the courageous among us, and by reducing the influence of the demagogue and the critical extremists on the one hand and the reactionary influence of combinations of wealth on politics and progression on the other.

To Preserve Institutions.

"Its solution will be consistent with the preservation of our ancient institutions of personal liberty and private property under the constitution. The message that you bear, with your experience and your success, to those of us struggling now with the problem, is that although dark the situation seems at times, so long as we retain in this country a God-fearing, sober, intelligent people, we can count in the long run on their working out safely and sanely the problems set before them, no matter how many mistakes in the form of 'nostalgias' they may have been led into by the speciousness of half-baked theories, no matter how often they may have been defeated in their purpose by the temporary success of undue and corrupt influence of concentrated wealth. This thought has come to me time and again since I have had the responsibility of the presidency; and when there seemed troubles and burdens that were hard to bear, my mind has reverted to those which Lincoln carried, and in comparison with his sad mental struggles mine have seemed boyish and of little weight."

The contest for commander-in-chief is between Colonel John McElroy of Washington and Judge Harry M. Trimble of Chicago, with chances favoring the latter.

Hints for the Kitchen

IN MANY HOMES grave cases of poisoning have arisen through a careless disregard for the cleanliness of the cooking utensils or of their perfect condition. As soon as a copper saucepan shows signs of being at all worn it should be retinned, and in should be allowed to remain in it while cooling. The same with regard to zinc and lead vessels, which are unsafe for cooking purposes. Those of tin, steel, iron or nickel are the safest to employ. Remember, too, that it's better to use a wooden spoon than one of metal when stirring milk or soups, and that before using baking tins you should grease them inside thoroughly either with butter or lard. In order to prevent them from burning it is well to take the precaution of sprinkling the shelves of the oven with salt.

Mint Water Ice

Delicious In Summer

The fragrant green mint that is so abundant in summer can be used in such a variety of ways and has become so popular with culinary experimenters that a volume could well-nigh be filled with recipes that call for it.

Mint jellies, sandwiches, sauces, vinegars, punches and sherbets are among the number, and mint is added with other herbs and seasonings to many other concoctions. Few flavors are so suggestive of the cool, green woods, and it is particularly refreshing on hot days in frozen desserts and ice cold drinks.

For a pale green wather ice flavored with mint have ready the juice of five lemons, one pint of sugar, one tablespoonful of gelatine, one quart of water, half a cupful of crushed mint leaves (packed down) and enough green coloring matter to give a pretty tint. Boil two cupfuls of water. Soak the gelatine in one cupful, and in the other steep the crushed mint leaves. Stir the sugar and lemon juice together and add the hot water that contains the dissolved gelatine, a pint of cold water and the water in which the mint leaves are steeping. Strain through a cheesecloth bag, squeezing well to extract all the juice possible. After straining color it a rather vivid green, as the process of freezing tends to whiten it. Set it where it will become cold, then freeze it.

Tricolor Punch

Make a sirup by boiling two cupfuls of water and one cupful of sugar ten minutes. Add the juice of three lemons and one can of grated pineapple. Cool, strain and add one quart of iced water. Serve each glassful with a few red and white currants and blueberries floating on top.

Bath Mittens

Make a mitten of soft Turkish toweling button at wrist so mitt will not come off and see how quickly you can give baby his bath. The warmth of your hand will keep mitt at an agreeable temperature.

Boneless Birds

Cut slices from veal loin or leg about three or four inches long and pound each piece a little. Season with salt and pepper. Put one teaspoonful of mixed (chopped) parsley and butter on each piece. Roll and fasten with toothpick. Roast slowly in kettle with two or three tablespoons of butter. Dust a little flour over the birds. Pour in a little boiling water or milk now and then to keep meat from becoming dry. If milk is used the gravy will be nicer and the meat tender. Serve with fresh cucumbers.

White Fruit Cake

Whites of ten eggs, one pound of flour, three-fourths pound of butter, one pound of best raisins (seed them), one-half pound crystallized cherries, one-half pound crystallized pineapple, one-half pound citron, one-half pound blanched almonds, one small tumbler of sherry. Cut the fruit up. Clip raisins in two or three pieces; cut almonds across about three or four times with a penknife. Flour the fruit as for other fruit cake and add last to batter. No baking powder is used.

Salad Dressing

Salad dressing is best made at home. This recipe will stand the test of time. Use a small graniteware saucepan and in it stir a teaspoon of sugar, a little salt and dry mustard according to taste, three tablespoons of vinegar and three of cream. When well mixed add two well beaten egg yolks, place in a pan of boiling water and cook and stir till the mixture is like cream. The quantity can be doubled or trebled, for if placed in a cool place the dressing will keep indefinitely.

Ginger Cake

Two cups light brown sugar, two cups flour, one cup sour cream, one tablespoonful of orange peel chopped fine (the white part must be omitted), ginger, cloves, and cinnamon to make one tablespoonful, three tablespoons of melted butter (not warm), one teaspoon soda. Mix this well and then stir in two well beaten eggs. Sprinkle the buttered pan well with toast or cracker crumbs. Bake in moderate oven thirty or forty minutes.

HAY FEVER, ASTHMA AND SUMMER COLDS.

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is effective for coughs and colds in either children or grown persons. No opiates, no harmful drugs. In a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Blackmer & Tanquary.

Modifying Milk

The following are some of the various ways in which cows' milk may be modified to the constituents of human milk:

Put two quarts of good cow's milk into a clean, cold place at night. The next morning siphon off one quart of the bottom milk with a small rubber tube; then heat this to 100 degrees F. Add one junket tablet dissolved and allow it to stand quietly for ten minutes until it solidifies.

Break it with a fork and strain through a perfectly clean piece of cheesecloth. Add the whey thus obtained to the top milk; add four tablespoonfuls of sugar of milk; stir the milk until the sugar and cream are well mixed and put away in a perfectly clean cold place.

It is sometimes the case that the child cannot even take this small amount of the curd of cow's milk. If such is the case, add two junket tablets to two quarts of fresh milk heated to 100 degrees F. When the milk solidifies agitate it for a moment with a fork; then strain.

To the whey thus obtained add one pint of water, five oz. of cream, four level tablespoonfuls of sugar of milk and the whites of three eggs. A little more egg may be added if desired, but frequently it is better to add less.

Put the whites of eggs in a fruit jar; add a little of the whey, and shake until the whole is thoroughly mixed; then turn this in with the remaining whey.

A large, clean marble boiled in milk, porridge, custards, sauces, will automatically do the stirring as the liquid boils, and so prevent burning.

To prevent white fabrics, such as tulle or silk evening gowns, chalice lace or crepe shawls, from becoming yellow when packed away, sprinkle bits of white wax freely among the folds.

Thousands of people visited the Fine Arts building at the County Fair Thursday and listened to the Schaff Bros. and Co. player-piano and inspected the Link & Son piano which are to be given as First and Second Grand prizes in the Register-Herald great voting contest which is now nearing the close of its second week. Judging from the remarks overheard, the consensus of opinion seemed to be that the player-piano is the finest instrument ever placed on exhibition in this part of the state. The exhibit is in charge of J. W. Smalley from whom the pianos were purchased, and after the Fair closes will be shown at his new store room, next to the De Weese photo gallery on W. The amount of interest shown in this great contest is an indication that there is and will be great haste.

WHERE THE PRIZES WILL GO.

The person who receives the largest number of votes in the entire contest will receive the Schaff Bros. Player Piano. The person who receives the second highest number of votes will receive the H. Link & Son Upright Piano with this restriction, that if the player piano is won in district No. 1, the upright piano must be awarded to the opposite district, or vice versa. In this way one of the grand prizes will be won in Washington and one outside of Washington. After the grand prizes have been awarded, the names of the winners will be stricken from the list and the holders of the first places will then be given the prizes known as District 1st prize. The same plan will be used in awarding the District 2d prizes.

Remember, three prizes will be given to each district, and each and every candidate will receive a square deal. One district will not have the advantage over another. District No. 1 will receive a grand prize and two district prizes. District No. 2 will also receive a grand prize and two district prizes.

Address all communications to the Contest Manager, Register-Herald, Washington C. H., Ohio. See the Contest Manager for instructions and all details of the contest.

Greenfield Man Murders His Wife in Cold Blood

Louis Fox, a resident of Greenfield, murdered his wife in cold blood Wednesday night, shooting her four times. Either of the bullets would have resulted in death.

The shooting occurred at eleven o'clock Wednesday night, and the man made his escape, going either to Chillicothe or coming to this city. Fox wears a black suit and black hat, is 25 years old, 5 feet seven inches in height, weighs 140 pounds, and has unusually large eyes. So far as known he has not been captured.

The trouble is said to have been due to jealousy. Fox is a former Chillicothean.

Later reports from Greenfield state that Fox has returned and given himself up to the authorities at Greenfield, claiming that his wife had provoked him to the act and that he was hardly aware of his actions at the time.

This is not the first time Fox has tried to kill his wife. About one year ago he assaulted her with a knife, but did not seriously injure her.

Sunday Night Luncheons

Prepared in the Chafing Dish.—There are so many things which can be prepared, and so quickly and easily, for Sunday night luncheon, when the cook is out and one wants a little "hot something" to add zest to the meal.

Suppose you have a few guests and you wish to have a dainty little lunch without going to the trouble of changing your gown or becoming heated in the kitchen. Here is a simple little menu, and one which will be appreciated by your guests:

Have the table set prettily. Bread and butter sandwiches, iced tea with lemon, fruit cake, pickles, and wafers form a foundation for a lunch to which the addition of the hot dish prepared in the chafing dish is the finishing touch.

For the chafing dish have all the necessary articles ready where they can be reached without trouble. For chicken croquettes, a never failing and universally liked dish, take the following for six or eight people: Three cupfuls of chicken chopped fine; one cupful bread crumbs, two eggs well beaten. Roll chicken and bread crumbs into small, pear shaped balls, dip into beaten eggs and bread crumbs and fry in butter in the chafing dish.

Cheese Fondue.—Two cupfuls of cheese, grated fine, one cupful of milk, one cupful fine bread crumbs, table-spoonful of butter, one teaspoonful dry mustard, sufficient paprika to flavor to taste, and two eggs. Put butter in chafing dish. When melted add the milk, bread crumbs, cheese and mustard, stirring constantly. Season with paprika, and just before serving, add two eggs beaten light. Serve on buttered toast.

To Prepare Pineapple

Cut lengthwise in halves or quarters. Then take a strong mixing spoon and lift the meat of the apple out of the rind. The meat is then ready to slice, shred, or grind, as you prefer. What remains in the rind can be scraped out with the spoon and can be kept separate for sherbets, if desired. Some may prefer to use a knife instead of a spoon.

Milk-Fed and Teething Infants In Warm Weather.

Are subject to many ills—especially secondary gastro-entric infection, with consequent vomiting, diarrhoea, septic fermentation, etc.

The life of a baby in warm weather is a trying one at best. They become nervous and irritable—don't sleep well.

By alternating Morse's Glycerole and Morse's Dyspepsin, the health and happiness of the infant are assured. Their nervous systems become normal, while assimilation of food is made perfect.

These harmless, mild preparations have been prescribed by leading physicians of America and Europe for a quarter century.

Both prescriptions are by eminent specialists and are compounded with the greatest of care by Mr. Hazen Morse, a renowned chemist to the medical profession. They are purely vegetable—free from narcotics, and are palatable to the most delicate stomach.

Testimony of a Head Nurse,

It is seldom that one sees a testimonial from a hospital nurse, but the following extract from a letter written by Miss M. White, head nurse of the Infants' Home and Infirmary of Toronto, to Mr. Morse, pays a deserved tribute: "I have used it (Morse's Glycerole) with teething infants and have found it a certain remedy for feverishness and every form of indigestion. For weak and sickly ones, it is invaluable as a tonic," etc., etc.

From this unquestionable evidence of merit every mother can, with absolute confidence, keep her babies in perfect healthy condition, at all times, especially through the warm season.

So certain is Mr. Hazen Morse of the efficacy of these remarkably successful preparations in almost every case of mal-assimilation, sleeplessness, brain fog, headaches, feverishness and kindred ailment produced by a strained nervous system, he has arranged with Blackmer & Tanquary and any dissatisfied purchaser, without question.

What Prominent Physician Says:

Horace O. Bayfield, M. D., of London, England, in a letter to Mr. Morse, regarding Morse's Dyspepsin, says, in part:

"I have used your preparation for a number of years and have entirely ceased using any other. The cases in which it appears to be most beneficial are young children, who suffer from non-assimilation of food and all the concomitant host of symptoms connected therewith."

HOUSEKEEPING HINTS

To remove oil paint wet the place with naphtha, repeating as often as necessary, but frequently one application will dissolve the paint. As soon as it is softened, rub the surface down.

As a varnish for black straw hats sealing wax, and put it into a bottle with two ounces of spirits of wine. Place in a sand bath or near a fire till the wax is dissolved. Apply while warm with a soft camel-hair brush before a fire or in the sunshine.

ESSANAY

A pretty comedy-drama of rural life.
The sunshine and shadows of a country courtship.
Excellent acting, well appointed scenes and clean, clear-cut photography.

In many ways this is a beautiful picture.
It affords an excellent chance for the Edison players to picture human emotions, and they utilize it with a great deal of power. This picture is decidedly worth seeing.

Massage and bathing the chest in cold water in the morning and at night are excellent, hardening and making the tissues firm. For massaging, which, remember, must be gentle, rubbing up and out, use coca butter.

Eat simple, nourishing food, drink water freely, and sleep all you can, with plenty of fresh air in your room. Don't fret or worry.

There is witchery in long, curling lashes and artistically sketched eyebrows, showing delicate arches. If you wish to work and devote a few minutes each day to training the lashes and brows you will find they are easily trained to an attractive manner of growth. Remove the hairs that grow out of lines with weezers. Night and morning smoothe the brows with a little eyebrow brush. Press a drop of the French eyebrow tonic on them. Then gently pinch them, starting at the corners and working toward nose. A little pinch of flesh is taken between the thumb and first finger, and the little hairs massed in a line through the center. This treatment arches the brows and keeps the hair where it should grow. The tonic nourishes the follicles and keeps the hair glossy and fine. The lasher should be brushed daily, the strokes turning upward so as to curl them. A little almond oil placed on the finger tip, he lid lifted with the other hand and the little rim of delicate hairs touched several times, going backward and forward.

Gooseberry Catchup

Stem and wash 9 pounds of ripe gooseberries, put them into a porcelain kettle, mash and scald them, then press through a sieve. Add five pounds sugar, three tablespoonsful of cinnamon and one and a half tablespoonsful each of allspice and cloves. Let boil for 15 minutes, then add one quart of cold vinegar, and bottle at once before it cools.

Collage Cheese

Boil a quart (or more) of sour milk or cream, put into a clean white cloth or bag, tie it shut, and place on ice immediately for a few hours. When taken out, mix with a little sweet cream.

FROZEN BANANA WHIP—Peel half a dozen bananas and run through a sieve; stir into them one-half of a cupful of orange juice and one-half of a cupful of powdered sugar. Soak one-quarter of a boxful of gelatin in one-quarter of a cupful of cold water, set over the teakettle until melted, and strain it over the fruit mixture. When it begins to stiffen stir in carefully one pint of thick cream which has been whipped to a stiff froth and turn into a wetted mold. See that the cover fits very tightly; it is well to lay two thicknesses of waxed paper over the top of the mold before putting on the cover; or, when covered, the edge may be bound with a strip of muslin which has been dipped into melted butter. Bury in a mixture of finely cracked ice and rock salt—two parts of the former to one of the latter—and stand away for two hours. By that time the outer portion of the mixture will be well frozen while the center is still soft. If desired, thoroughly frozen it must stand for four hours.

THE DIFFERENCE.

In New York There Would Only Have Been the Umbrella.

A white-faced cashier met the astute company promoter at the door of the office when he alighted from his gold-plated motor car.

"Oh, sir," he blurted out, "the office has been robbed! Burglars broke in last night!"

"Indeed! What did they take?" "The whole of the $2,000 which I was to send out to the shareholders to-day."

"Ah, shareholders' money—eh? Clever scamps, these burglars. Did they take anything else?"

"Your gold-mounted umbrella, sir."

"Oh, the villainous, cold-blooded thieves! Send for the police at once!"—Judy.

Not Good in His Line.

"Now, here is a show case," said the dealer pointing to a peculiar-looking specimen of his wares, "that is bound to become popular. It magnifies everything put in it to double its natural size."

"Can't use it in my business," replied the prospective customer. "What I want is a case that will seemingly reduce the actual size of its contents fully one-half."

"What is your line?" asked the dealer.

"My specialty is ladies' shoes," replied the other with a half-suppressed grin.

No Damages for Him.

There was a railway collision near Ottawa, says Tom Morgan, and a snitch lawyer hurried to the scene of the disaster. He noticed an old negro with a badly injured hand, and hurried up to him, where he lay moaning on the ground.

"How about damages?" he began.

But the sufferer waved him off.

"G'way, boss, g'way," he said.

GETTING AT THE FACTS. Cleansing of Throat Highly Important

Intelligent Answers Are Sometimes Given to the Census Taker.

The census-taker rapped at the door of the little farmhouse and opened his long book. A pump girl of about eighteen came to the door and blinked at him stupidly.

"How many people live here?" he began.

"Nobody lives here. We are only staying through the hop season."

"How many of you are there here?"

"I'm here. Father's in the woodshed, and Bill is—"

"See here, my girl, I want to know how many inmates there are in this house. How many people slept here last night?"

"Nobody slept here, sir. I had the toothache dreadful, and my little brother had the stomach ache, and the new hand that's helping us got sunburned so on his back that he has blisters the size of eggs; and we all took on so that nobody slept a wink all night long."—Exchange.

Place for Valuables.

They were on their honeymoon. The big bridegroom was so proud of his little wife that he could not resist the temptation to take the hotel clerk into his confidence.

"Say," he whispered, leaning over the desk, "my wife is a jewel."

"In that case, sir," chuckled the hotel clerk, "I really cannot allow her to go up to the bridal suite."

The bridegroom gasped in astonishment.

"What? Can't let her go up into the bridal suite? Why not?"

"Because I will have to put her in the place for jewels."

Currant and Raspberry Jelly

Four cupfuls of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of raspberry juice and one and one-half cupfuls of currant juice. Boil the sugar and water together for twenty minutes, then add the berry juice. When cold strain and turn into the freezer, work it thoroughly. Before serving dip the mould into warm water, wipe it, and turn out on a fancy china or glass flat dish.

Cantaloupe Sherbet

Choose the smallest nutmeg melons and have them thoroughly ripe; cut off the tops, remove the seeds and dig out the soft part; press this through a sieve and to a quart of the juice and pulp add a half pint each of orange juice and grape juice; stir in one and a half pounds of sugar and dissolve to a clear sirup. Pour in freezer and after the first freezing open the can scrape down the sides and stir in the white of an egg beaten with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Repack and leave for three hours. Clean the rinds, have them thoroughly chilled, and serve the ice in these.

Queer Uses of Milk

Milk has been put to many queer uses ere now. In Paris they even have collars made from goat's milk. They resemble celluloid, but have the advantage of possessing less polish. Milk cards, dressed and subjected to high pressure, make many other extraordinary articles. Among them are billiard balls, combs, imitation bone knife handles and collar and dress buttons.

Eggless Fruit Cake

One and one-half cups of brown sugar, scant one-half cup of butter, one cup raisins, one cup currants, one cup sour milk, one teaspoonful soda (mixed in milk), one teaspoonful mixed spices, flour enough to mix, one-fourth cupful maple sirup or molasses, and not too hot an oven.

To Apply Hair Tonic

An ingenious woman has discovered that the little can used to hold oil for the sewing machine is just as useful for putting tonic on the hair. It lets out the tonic in drops where it is wanted, at the roots of the hair, and not on the surface of fluffy locks where it will do no good.

First Grand Prize 2nd Grand Prize

$600 Schaff Bros. Player Piano

This beautiful Player Piano will be given to the person having the largest number of votes in the Register-Herald's Great Voting Contest, and was bought of J. A. Smalley, who will shortly have the instrument on exhibition at his store-room on West Court St., next door to the T. C. DeWees photo gallery, also in Exhibition hall at the County Fair next week.

This player piano carries with it an unlimited warranty and is the most simply constructed player on the market, one lever acting for the tempo, start, stop and rewind, making it possible for a child to operate it and play any style of music, from ragtime to the most classical.

The tone of this instrument, its volume of sound and artistic workmanship have earned for it the distinction of being one of the finest player pianos ever brought into Fayette county. Call at Smalley's store on West Court street and examine this prize.

$265 Link & Son Piano

This piano, also made by the Schaff Bros., of Chicago, Ill., and Huntington, Ind., has no equal on the market for the price. The people making this piano have been located in Chicago since the year 1868, since which time their financial rating has been unsurpassed by any of their competitors. They were the first firm to make upright pianos in Chicago after the great fire of 1872, and a steady improvement has marked the quality of their product ever since.

This piano was purchased from J. A. Smalley and is on exhibition at the storeroom next to the DeWeese photograph gallery. The many excellent features of this instrument, combining a double veneered maple-lined mahogany case, light, perfectly balanced and sympathetic action and soft mellow tone make it one that anyone who is a lover of music would be proud to own.
